SECOND WARD REPUBLICANS LOCAL POLITICAL CALENDAR LOCAL

Bryan's Statements Submitted to the Searchlight of Cold Reason.

Good Audience Assembles to Listen to the Discussion of Local and National Issues_Good

The republicans of the Second ward hel meeting Wednesday night in the hall I 1441 South Sixteenth street and turned ou in a good crowd to hear local and nations fusues discussed. 1. G. Baright and D. M. Vinsonhaler, republican candidates for cleri of the district court and county judge re-spectively, spoke on the affairs of Douglas county and how they had prospered or the reverse under different administrations. They referred to their recent trip through the country precincts and their cordial reception at all points. They predicted success for the republican ticket and backed their assertions with citations of fact.

C. E. Winter made the principal address of the evening, taking up some of the arguments that Bryan has been advancing in his late speeches. He pointed out especially the different positions occupied in succes sion by the silver statesman on the question of prices. At first he had proclaimed then too low for the good of the people and now they are getting too high again. He also went over the ground upon which Mr. Bryan had based his charge that the republican party was the party of trusts and corporations and showed conclusively that the trust question was in no way a party issue.

Mr. Winter took up the letter published in the local fusion organ from Ohio, asking for voluntary contributions to the campaign fund and compared it with the standing call for party funds which the paper had in its columns. The letter, he said, was a complete refutation of the assertions so freely made that the republican party had only to hold out a hand to receive plenty of campaign money from the trusts. If that were so there would have been no need of a call for funds in the president's own state,

FUSIONISTS FIRE FIRST GUN.

Talk to About Thirty Voters in the Ninth Ward. Several of the fusion candidates for county and city offices met with about thirty voters in the Ninth ward Wednesday night and discharged the first gun of the campaign in that part of the city. Short addresses were made by Frank Brondwell, John Power, Fred Elsasser, Emil Youngfelt and P. B. Myers. The principal speeches of the evening were delivered by W. O. Gilbert, Silas Robbins, a colored man, and David VanEtten. The republican party was denounced and the meeting enthused to a considerable degree when Mr. Gilbert asserted that "one dead Thomas Jefferson is better than twenty-five live McKinleys." Mr. Gilbert touched the national political issues but briefly, devoting himself chiefly to an exposition of the necessity of wrestling from the republican control of the city School Board, and incidentally calling attention to his own candid by for that position. Mr. Robbins found himself handicapped because of lack of sufficient time to cover the entire national political field thoroughly, but gave his old-time colleagues-the republicans-several hard raps, asserting that they ought to be wiped off the face of the earth, and applying a few choice epithets to the party in general, which aroused his auditors to a state of wild enthusiasm. He called attention of the fusionists to a certain patriot over in the Philippines by the name of Aguinaldo and advised them to follow his example by fighting for freedom, with free silver and everything else that is free thrown in on the side. He confided to his hearers the fact that a majority of the republicans, themselves, were he war in the Philippines and clinched this argument by stating that he had "heard them say so." When it came Mr. VanEtten's time to speak he confined himself to the silver question. If he had touched upon any of the other questions of the day the meeing would probably not have adjourned until morning. He traced the silver question from the time of Abraham on down through the critical stages of the

A. H. Hipple presided over the meeting in a facetious manner and introduced each of the speakers with some little pleasantry, which placed the candidates, who acknowledged themselves "green at the speechmaking business" at their ease.

Democratic Central Committee. The democratic county central committee met Wednesday night at the rooms of the Jeffersonian club and transacted business in connection with holding meetings and rallies. The members from the different wards and precincts, or as many as were present, reported halls in their district which could be secured for the purpose and these lists were placed in the hands of the executive committee to be used by it in making the arrangements.

A much warmer meeting than actually took place had been expected, as the idea had beet bruited around that a well-developed opposition to the present executive committee would become manifest. It was even bolieved by some democrats that the committee would be ousted entirely and its successors chosen. The reason assigned for this opposition was the suspicion that the members of the committee had not been as true to the democratic ring of the circus as they might have been. Whether such a movement is on foot or not nothing of the kind was revealed Wednesday night. The attendance was not very full and the session did not last long.

Annual Reports of Railroads Show Advancement Along All Lines and Largely Increased Earnings.

There is much cause for gratification to ailroad men throughout the entire country in the annual reports of the various comcanles for the year ending June 20, most of which have already been submitted to the stockholders. With hardly an exception these reports show largely increased earnings, reduced operating expenses and a dedine in passenger and freight rates. A very favorable showing has been made by the railroads operating in the west. These, as well as the eastern systems, show a decidedly prosperous year, which was necessary in order to bring about the largely increased earnings in the face of the reductions in the revenue producing freight and scientific management of the great railroads is also demonstrated in the reduction of the earnings and yet has not interfered with continued improvement in operation. Several roads-and the Union Pacific, Burlington and Northwestern can well be cited as examples-have within the past year spent thousands of dollars for betterment of equipment and improvements in other directions. and yet, after deducting these expenses from the gross earnings, the net earnings have reached a mark satisfactory to every official nd stockholder.

The editor of one of the foremost Engish monthly magazines, recognizing the vast improvements made during the last few there is also danger that the voters will has addressed General Manager Holdrege of he Burlington, asking him for data and tive article. James Walter Smith, the edior of the magazine referred to, writes that ne would be pleased to receive illustrations and photographs of the various towns and cities along the Burlington line as well as coints of interest reached by the system. Photographs and descriptive matter relaive to the middle west and showing the equipment of the Burlington as well as data concerning its growth and development furing the last few years will be forwarded to London.

Pay Respects to Former Official. The American flag which waves above the Union Pacific building at Ninth and Farnam streets was at half mast yesterday on account of the death of Thomas L. Kimball. BLUECOATS AT THE THEATER Policemen Listen to the "Pirates of Penzance" and Enjoy the Hits at Themselves.

Through the courtesy of Manager Cole the Trocadero audiences Wednesday at matince and evening were thickly sprinkled with policemen in citizens' clothes. The great attraction of the play "Pirates of Penzance was, of course, the policemen's chorus and every time the bluecoats came out they were received with salvos of applause. add to the merriment and interest, the policemen of the chorus were given names belonging to the local force and there was many a red face in the audience called out by the allusions to prominent stars on the roster. In the afternoon the following well known bluecoats of the night shift received attention at the hands of Chief Maurice Hageman: Officers Francis Behan, Dan Davis, Dan Baldwin, Nels Pierson, Mike Kissane and Sam Reigleman. Of the day force the following were hit off in great style: Dan Lahey, Jim Shavlick, Patsey Hafey, Nels Pierson, William Fisk, Henry Weisenberg and Mike McCarthy, the latter being especially singled out and given a great character by the chief. Mr. Hageman, who came near losing a fine buildog some time ago through the efforts of Hudson and Heelan, who were looking for one that had been lost by an Iowa man, took special delight in ringing in the names of se two efficient men for a little joke on the side. The police officers were all very highly pleased with the performances and courtestes shown them.

FUSIONISTS DEPEND ON NATIONAL ISSUES

They Recognize the Inferiority of Fusion Candidates Compared with Republican Opponents for Same Respective Offices,

"The way in which the newspaper end of the fusion management is trying to mix up next spring's city campaign with the prominent republican yesterday, "is a huge joke. The particularly ridiculous part of it is the way they try to show that the epring campaign is already on and that the republicans are splitting up with dissensions over who the candidates for city office will be next year. The fact is the republicans of Omaha and Douglas county never had a set of candidates better qualified for the positions to which they are nominated or in whose support both leaders and rank and file were so harmoniously united. Republicans are forming new clubs, to be sure, but the sole object of their organization in the present campaign is to work for the success of the republican ticket. Up to the time the polls close, November 7, every republican club and the individual members will be bending undivided energy in behalf passenger rates. A decided advance in the of republican candidates, and whatever favorites they may have for party preferment in the spring will hold back operating expenses, which has helped swell their ambitions until the fusion aggregation is first routed in the impending fight. "Of course it is political strategy for the oppocratic managers to try to disorganize the republicans, but no such yarns as they are manufacturing out of the whole cloth will help them in their present predica-The announced program for the first fusion rally shows that the fight in Douglas county is to be made on what are asserted to be national issues, carefully avoiding discussing the qualifications of the nomineer for county and judicial positions. And that will come first on the program, so that such trifles as local affairs may be quickly got out of the way of more important ones, the cure of the maladies of civilization with the well-tried and reliable populist specifics. The fusion managers all admit that they have nothing to gain by comparing the personnel of their ticket with their opponents and that all they can do is to ask their followers to swallow the conglomerate dose for Bryan's sake.

General Agent F. A Nash of the Milwaukee has returned from Chicago and other eastern points.

W. H. Murray, chief cierk in the passenger department of the Union Pacific, has returned from his vacation trip. Mr. Murray visited New York during his absence and was an interested onlooker at the Dewey parade.

Wednesday the Stock Yards company commenced the work of filling in a tract of land at Thirty-fifth and I streets, just east of the cooper factory. The dirt used in leveling up this tract is being taken from the west end of the Armour grounds. As soon as the Dewey parade. Wednesday the Stock Yards company addition to the cooperage factory will be commenced. This new building will be 150 feet in length and fifty feet in width. The basement and first story will be built of vanized iron. A short time ago the Omaha Cooperage company purchased the plant of the Lincoln Cooperage company and will move the stock and machinery to this city as soon as the new building is completed. The new structure will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000 and will more than double the capacity of the plant. Commencing on November 1, this company will manufacture 1,500 barrels a day instead of 500 a day as at the present time. Sixty men are now employed, but when the proposed building is completed the force will be increased to 100 men. Manager Welch expects to commence building in about ten days and he figures that it will not take more than a month to finish the work. More than likely the machinery in the entire plant will be operated by electricity before pending with the local electric light com-

In connection with the erection of the new building Manager Welch said yesterday that the city council would be requested to vacate Thirty-fifth street between H and I. This street shows on the map, but has never been opened for travel. Last September when it was reported that a request for the vacation of the street would be made the South Omaha Land company filed a protest against the granting of the request, alleging that the closing of the street would damage the property belonging to the company This protest was referred to the street and alley committee, but no action has been taken for the reason that no request has been made for the vacating of the street. It is possible that when the city council realizes that the vacating of the treet will benefit a growing industry the remonstrance of the land company may be overruled. The capital stock of the cooperage company is to be increased from $50,000 to $100,-

The law says thirty days' notice of submission must be given, yet Mr. Yeiser waited until the limit of the twenty-ninth day before he filed his petition. That gives rise to a technicality that of itself is enough to defeat the submission proposition, I believe. Why didn't he come in earlier? It is not a new question, he says, and it seems to me if he is sincere in his play for popular government he would have raised his issue prior to the expiration of the thirty-day limit,
